Be a Part of the Critical Tradition

Did you know that our host partner, Humboldt University of Berlin

- is No. 41 in the Times Higher Education World Reputation Rankings 2015
- has 29 Nobel Prize winners
- is where intellectual and political luminaries of the 19th and 20th centuries have studied or taught, such as
  - Albert Einstein
  - Karl Marx and Friedrich Engels
  - Georg W.F. Hegel
  - Max Weber
  - Herbert Marcuse
  - Walter Benjamin
  - W.E.B. DuBois
  - Angela Y. Davis
  - Chilean President Michelle Bachelet

Make a Difference this Summer

Join us for Law and Critical Social Justice

The Law and Critical Social Justice program allows students to gain valuable experience applying legal knowledge to assist leading NGOs in Berlin in their work to support refugees or to redress police brutality and state violence for Europe's most vulnerable populations.

Student Comments from Summer 2015

"The Berlin program was a profound and eye-opening experience. The program provided the opportunity to interact with local communities and international organizations on some of the most relevant social justice issues that continue to affect the lives of so many around the world."
—RACHEL S., DEPAUL LAW CLASS OF 2016

"The carefully organized program had the perfect blend of readings, guest lectures, videos, discussion, and site visits/excursions that the program faculty integrated into a compelling and coherent whole. German students from HU-Berlin also enhanced our understanding and expanded our perspectives in each course."
—NICK C., DEPAUL LAW CLASS OF 2016

DEPAUL UNIVERSITY
STUDY ABROAD PROGRAM

abroad@depaul.edu
(312) 362-6962
studyabroad.depaul.edu

STUDY: BERLIN, GERMANY

Law & Critical Social Justice

JULY 18–AUGUST 11, 2016

Earn Five ABA-Approved Law Credits

DEPAUL UNIVERSITY
STUDY ABROAD PROGRAM

Course-integrated Excursions

High quality field trips with private guides to some of Berlin's most historically significant sites are incorporated into the curriculum of the Law and Critical Social Justice program, including the following excursions:

- Germany's Colonial Past
- Holocaust Memorials and Forgotten Victims
- Guided Tour of Ravensbrück women's concentration camp
- Site visits to Berlin NGOs working on hate violence and refugee/asylum rights

Authentic Cross-cultural Exchange

Humboldt University of Berlin students who are fluent in English will participate in classes and extracurricular activities. German, European and U.S. faculty members collaboratively teach each course.

Admission and Financial Aid

Admission
Admission to the program is open to law students who have completed at least one year of full-time or part-time study and are in good standing at an ABA-accredited law school. A very limited number of undergraduate or graduate students with a background international law or human rights may also be admitted to the program.

Financial Aid
DePaul students enrolled in ABA-approved study abroad programs qualify for financial aid. Non-DePaul students applying to this program should contact their home institution's financial aid office and request that a financial aid consortium agreement be sent to the Office of Financial Aid at DePaul University.

APPLICATION DEADLINE
May 1, 2016 or until program is full.

For more information, visit go.depaul.edu/lawberlin.

Program Courses

Intersectionality and Human Rights
Students will apply classroom theory to contemporary problems faced by constituents of Berlin nongovernmental organizations (NGOs) working with migrant and refugee populations. Students will also contemplate how human rights and transnational lawyering might assist Berliners facing multiple sources of discrimination.

History, Memory and Law
Students will consider how lessons from historical traumas can inform contemporary strategies of inclusion and anti-subordination of minorities in Europe, the United States or other parts of the world. Students will analyze how topics such as genocide, forced labor, colonialism and immigration are reflected in a society's law, policy and public history.